Abstract
In this talk I discuss the process of going from data to knowledge bases. This process involves several natural language processing tasks. We will discuss the major tasks involved in creating pipelines and tradeoff when creating pipelines.