Course Description

Credits: 3

Synergy between art and computing through a programming-oriented exploration of fundamental concepts in multimedia.

Course Pre-Requisites / Co-Requisites

COP3503 or COP3504

Course Objectives

- Identify the key components of visually-oriented applications
- Describe the tools and methods used to create content, both hand-made and procedurally-generated
- Explain the fundamental concepts of 2- and 3-dimensional art assets
- Utilize existing graphics frameworks to create interactive applications
- Understand the programming challenges in visualizing data

Materials and Supply Fees

None

Required Software

Processing

Available for download at: <https://processing.org/>

Recommended Materials

Course Schedule

Week 1	Introduction to Rendering
Week 2	Visual Applications
Week 3	Persistent Data
Week 4	Vectors and Moving Objects
Week 5	Transformations
Week 6	Introduction to 3D
Week 7	Content Creation Tools
Week 8	Procedural Content
Week 9	Image Processing and Data Visualization
Week 10	Game Engines

Week 11	Games and Simulations
Week 12	Rendering Detail I
Week 13	Rendering Detail II
Week 14	Animation
Week 15	Course Wrap Up
Week 16	Finals Week

(Adjustments may be made to this schedule as the semester progresses)

Attendance Policy, Class Expectations, and Make-Up Policy

Lecture attendance is not mandatory, but it is expected that you attend—and you are ultimately responsible for the concepts covered on any given day. Class days will include some combination of lecture material, live demonstrations (coding or otherwise) as well as Q&A sessions and open discussions about the material.

Excused absences must be consistent with university policies in the undergraduate catalog (<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>) and require appropriate documentation.

Evaluation of Grades

Over the course of this semester, you may earn up to 1000 points by completing various assignments and exams.

Assignment	Total Points	Percentage of Final Grade
Projects and quizzes	800	80%
Midterm Exam	100	10%
Final Exam	100	10%
		100%

Grading Policy

Percent	Grade	Grade Points
100 – 93.4	A	4.00
< 93.4 to 90.0	A-	3.67
< 90 to 86.7	B+	3.33
< 86.7 to 83.4	B	3.00
< 83.4 to 80.0	B-	2.67
< 80 to 76.7	C+	2.33
< 76.7 to 73.4	C	2.00
< 73.4 to 70.0	C-	1.67
< 70.0 to 66.7	D+	1.33
< 66.7 to 63.4	D	1.00
< 63.3 to 60.0	D-	0.67
< 60.0 to 0	E	0.00

Grade Posting Timeline

Grades for assignments will be posted to the Gradebook within one (1) week of the assignment deadline.

Grade Challenges

If a mistake was made on one of your grades, or if you feel a question on an exam was in error, you have one (1) week to bring it to my attention. This is to avoid a wave of request for changes to be made at the end of a semester, long after that part of the class has passed.

End of Semester Grade Boosts or Grade Rounding

I will not round or arbitrarily increase your grade for any reason. If you think a mistake was made on a graded assignment or an exam question, bring it to my attention and—if it is a mistake—I will correct it, generally in your favor! Aside from that, your final grade is what you've earned over the course of the semester. All requests asking for additional points or opportunities to gain points beyond what was already assigned will be denied.

Code Policy

In this course, students are expected to write their own code for all assignments. You are the one who is being tasked with coming up with a solution to the various programming problems in this course—not your friend, not your roommate, not a stranger on the Internet. The reasoning behind this is that later in your educational career (or if you end up in industry) it will be expected that you are capable of solving problems on your own, if and when the need arises. Even in a team-based environment, each member of that team must be capable of carrying their own weight.

Unless otherwise noted, there are no group or collaborative assignments in this course. When working on assignments, discussion of those assignments with your classmates is not only inevitable, but it is strongly encouraged! (We often learn very effectively in social environments.) That said, you should discuss the problem in high level terms, not telling someone else (or being told) how to write the code. Here are some examples of what could be considered acceptable and unacceptable:

Acceptable

- Talking about the problem
- Using a whiteboard (or paper, or something similar) to draw out the problem
- Looking at someone else's code to help them identify or fix a bug, AFTER you have already completed that portion for yourself

Unacceptable

- Splitting an assignment's work into multiple parts with other students
- Asking someone to send you their code
- Copying someone else's code into your own submission
- Giving another student your code for ANY reason—once you send your code to someone else, you have no control over where it ends up
- Giving another student step-by-step instructions on how to structure a solution to a problem—it's their job to write their code, not yours
- Looking up solutions to problems and using those solutions yourself verbatim
- Viewing solutions to the problems and mimicking those solutions—ask me, or one of the numerous assistants in this course, for help

Consequences for Honor Code Violations

If you are not capable of completing an assignment on your own, that's okay. Lots of things in life can take time to really "click" for us, and we all learn at different rates. Under no circumstances should you ever consider cheating—that is, submitting someone else's work as your own—as an option. The consequences for doing so will be far worse than if you simply did not do the assignment.

Students will complete this course with honor and integrity, or not at all. Submissions which are believed to be not entirely a student's own work will be reported to administration for disciplinary action. I will recommend the following sanctions be imposed on that student or students:

1. A failing grade (an 'E') for the course
2. That you not be allowed to drop the course for any reason

Regret Clause

If you submit an assignment, in which you engaged in some of the unacceptable practices listed above (or something similar), you may bring it to my attention within 72 hours of the submission. If you do so, I will assign a failing grade of 0 for the assignment, and you will not be reported to the administration.

Deadlines

Deadlines in this course are final, and submissions after the deadline will not be accepted. Ultimately, it is your responsibility to ensure that assignments are completed on time, and according to specifications. Students are given ample time in this course to complete each assignment. If you wait until the last day to start something, and something goes wrong on that last day, it is not my responsibility. (I've been there before as a student, and I had to live with the consequences.)

Exceptions can be made for significant hardships as dictated by university policy (e.g. medical issues, hurricanes, death in the family, etc) with supporting documentation. In addition, students may be granted one (1) single exception to this, according to the following section.

Single-Use Late Submission Exception

You may turn in one (1) assignment up to 24 hours after the deadline, with a grade penalty of 50% of the final score for the assignment (so a 100 would become a 50, a score of 42 would become a 21, etc). This is only applicable to the most recent assignment, and only within the 24-hour period following the deadline. You may use this opportunity only once throughout the entire semester, and you must contact your TA or ET to inform them this one-time exception is being invoked.

Official University of Florida policies:

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc>) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment." The Honor Code (<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.

Commitment to a Safe and Inclusive Learning Environment

The Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering values broad diversity within our community and is committed to individual and group empowerment, inclusion, and the elimination of discrimination. It is expected that every person in this class will treat one another with dignity and respect regardless of gender, sexuality, disability, age, socioeconomic status, ethnicity, race, and culture.

If you feel like your performance in class is being impacted by discrimination or harassment of any kind, please contact your instructor or any of the following:

- Your academic advisor or Graduate Program Coordinator
- Robin Bielling, Director of Human Resources, 352-392-0903, rbielling@eng.ufl.edu
- Curtis Taylor, Associate Dean of Student Affairs, 352-392-2177, taylor@eng.ufl.edu
- Toshikazu Nishida, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs, 352-392-0943, nishida@eng.ufl.edu

Software Use

All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Student Privacy

There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see: <https://registrar.ufl.edu/ferpa.html>

Recording Privacy

Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.

Campus Resources:

Health and Wellness

U Matter, We Care:

Your well-being is important to the University of Florida. The U Matter, We Care initiative is committed to creating a culture of care on our campus by encouraging members of our community to look out for one another and to reach out for help if a member of our community is in need. If you or a friend is in distress, please contact umatter@ufl.edu so that the U Matter, We Care Team can reach out to the student in distress. A nighttime and weekend crisis counselor is available by phone at 352-392-1575. The U Matter, We Care Team can help connect students to the many other helping resources available including, but not limited to, Victim Advocates, Housing staff, and the Counseling and Wellness Center. Please remember that asking for help is a sign of strength. In case of emergency, call 9-1-1.
